

Authorship - Authorship is based on the four criteria of the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICJME) which are:

- Substantial contributions to the conception or design of the work; or the acquisition, analysis, or interpretation of data for the work; AND
- Drafting the work or revising it critically for important intellectual content; AND
- Final approval of the version to be published; AND
- Agreement to be accountable for all aspects of the work in ensuring that questions related to the accuracy or integrity of any part of the work are appropriately investigated and resolved

The order of authorship is to be determined by the authors, not the journal, and is to be done prior to submission. After submission any changes in authorship (ie. additions, deletions, order) must be done by writing a letter or email to the editor explaining the change and signed by all authors.

Corresponding author - the corresponding author will manage correspondence throughout the submission, review, publication and post-publication stages.
